BRENDA WALTZES IN TO GRANVILLE

The Granville Theatre's latest facility has been opened by long-time friend and supporter Brenda Blethyn. The Oscar-nominated actress and Golden Globe winner looked round the Ramsgate theatre's new dance studio with her friend, singer Julie Forsyth (yes, the daughter of Bruce!). The pair gave the studio the thumbs-up and chatted to staff and visitors before sitting in on the SummerScreen film festival.

A PLANNING saga stretching as far back as the early 1980s has finally been concluded but left many people unhappy with the outcome.

The building of a house in Birchington by Simon Day – who is vice-chairman of Thanet council's planning committee – has sparked concerns about the committee's impartiality.

The design of the building, in Berkeley Road, had upset neighbours, who protested that it was at odds with its surroundings – but it is the way the development has been handled that has proved to be most contentious.

Cllr Day was told by the planning committee that the building should have clouded windows overlooking neighbours' back gardens to protect their privacy – but he neglected to do so and instead installed clear windows.

The issue was addressed retrospectively at a planning meeting last week, where it was nodded through, but Bill Furness, chairman of the Liberal Democrat group in Birchington, is just one of several people to have contacted this newspaper about the matter.

He said: "Cllr Simon Day seems to be able to ignore planning regulations. What has been built is totally out of keeping with the existing bungalows in the road. A lot of people are upset about this."

Plot thickens with 20 years of plans

■ BY TOM BETTS

THE plans to build the detached bungalow in Berkeley Road were originally put in by G Day & Son of Westgate-on-Sea in September 1981.

The company had built some of the other homes in the road and was keen to get one more in on a smaller plot it owned at the end.

However, a series of applications were turned down over the course of many years.

The first application for a bungalow was refused in 1981, on the grounds the plot was too small. The firm then put in a further series of applications to develop the land.

Another bungalow application was submitted in 1982, with more concerns about size and the appearance being "out of character" with the area cited as reasons it was refused.

Obtrusive

Plans for seven garages were turned down in May 1983 because they would create a disturbance and be "unduly obtrusive".

It was followed by yet another house submission, in December 1987, which, again, was turned down.

Seventeen years went by before the firm made another ultimately unsuccessful application in May 2004 to build a two-bedroom house and garage on the plot.

The firm appealed, but the case was dismissed by secretary of state-appointed planning inspector Jonathon Bore in 2005.

He outlined concerns with the appearance of the building, calling it a "poor solution" and said that the proposed house would be too cramped.

The expert went on to say that the house would "detract from the character of the area", that he was unconvinced a two-storey dwelling could fit on the plot and ruled it was contrary to the local plan.

But the tale took a new twist when the company, whose boss Simon Day was by this time an elected councillor, submitted yet another application in 2006.

The application was for an even larger home and was passed by the council's planning committee.

The committee was obliged to review it because of Cllr Day's ties to the company.

Blogging

A suggestion that some of Mr Bore's report to the planning committee was somehow omitted, changing its meaning, has appeared on a local internet blogging site.

Thanet council documents do indeed appear to suggest that a part of Mr Bore's report was – presumably accidentally – omitted.

Part of a sentence which stated that any development would have "to ensure that it did not harm the appearance of the area or neighbours' living conditions" was apparently missing.

Those words were presumably never seen by the elected members who form the committee, meaning a decision was taken without the full information being available.

The resulting building is now almost finished.

'Breaking the regulations'

Roger Latchford, deputy leader of Thanet council and a Birchington parish and district councillor, has previously rapped those who have built before planning permission has been granted.

When talking about a home-owner in Margate who built an extension without consent and was then ordered to knock it down, he stated: "Starting work before a decision was made shows little regard for the planning process."

Mr Furness added: "It seems like one rule for councillors and another for others. When the committee told him [Cllr Day] that he should have installed clouded glass, he ignored it and put in clear glass. He was not supposed to do it and is breaking the regulations."

Cllr Ken Gregory, planning committee chairman, said: "The local government ombudsman has said that the council has done the right thing."

"The sill of the windows are two metres off the ground – you would have to stand on a chair or a ladder to look out of them."

"The homeowner is now at liberty to have clear glass in those top windows as long as the sills are two metres off the floor, which they are."

"Officers said at the meeting that they didn't envisage high-level windows when they put the condition on about frosted glass. If you really want to look out of them you can, but you have to try really hard and that is where this whole thing falls down."

Big-screen actress pays visit to film festival

RAMSGATE'S favourite daughter returned to the town last week to lend a bit of star quality to a new dance studio.

Acclaimed actress Brenda Blethyn was guest of honour at the Granville Theatre to officially open their latest facility, a new multi-purpose studio.

Despite sharing the stage and screen with some of Hollywood's famous names and even winning a Golden Globe, Brenda, who looked a little embarrassed with all the attention, showed she is as down to earth as ever as she shared a cuppa with friends of the theatre in the foyer.

The purpose-built studio is sponsored by Broadstairs couple Bill and Bernadette Carroll and will be used for dance lessons, stage classes and even band practices.

The theatre's Trudi Kingham said:

"We're proud of the new room. We have already started to use it and to be honest, I don't know how we survived so long without it."

After her ribbon cutting duty was over, Oscar nominee Brenda stuck around for the first day of the SummerScreen film festival in which Kent kids have been making films over the summer holidays in the Granville's cinema.

FUTURE: Margate's Winter Gardens are now Grade II-listed

Gardens make the grade as heritage site

■ BY TOM BETTS

MARGATE'S home of show-business has received listed status.

The Winter Gardens received Grade II listed status from the Government's English Heritage office last week.

Mick Tomlinson has been a long-time advocate of and visitor to the gardens.

He said: "This is simply fantastic news for the old place. Over the years it has hosted some great names and the building deserves this status. I have a great affection for the place, it has great character and is such a symbol of Margate. We should all be happy about this news."

Through the years, the building has played host to all manner of stars such as The Beatles, Lulu and Tommy Cooper. More recently, Jim Davidson and Jimmy Carr have played there.

However, despite the latest honour, the very fabric of the building is in a decline according to many who have visited, and even Thanet council's cabinet member for culture has admitted the venue needs work and attention.

Cllr Roger Latchford said: "It's undoubtedly a beautiful building, but I think we are all aware that it does need additional work."

With the council's current cash crisis, funding will be needed to make any improvements and repairs.

Cllr Latchford said: "In the current economic climate, this is clearly not something the council can fund. Indeed we are having to take a serious look at our day-to-day funding, as part of our ongoing budget planning process, so any additional external funding that can be accessed would be exceptionally welcome."

Rare

Built in a neo-Grecian style, the Winter Gardens was described by the government office responsible for the listing as "an example of a rare seaside entertainment building type" and "the only known example of a winter garden constructed within the chalk cliff".

Work to build the Winter Gardens began in 1911, with large quantities of chalk excavated from the cliffs.

The venue was originally known as The Pavilion and Winter Gardens.

Original features included a large concert hall, four entrance halls, two side wings and an outdoor amphitheatre with cloakrooms, offices, staff room, lighting room and refreshment rooms.

The stage could be viewed from both the main hall and amphitheatre and could be enclosed in bad weather.

Cllr Latchford added: "This listing is excellent news for the Winter Gardens and recognises the historical importance of the building. It may also open up a number of funding opportunities to help the Winter Gardens in the future."

WORK NEEDED: The fabric of the famous building is in decline

Youths will go to crown court

SAM Eastwell, the 17-year-old sixth-former badly injured in an attack in Ramsgate, has regained consciousness in King's College Hospital in London.

The Clarendon House Grammar School student remains in a critical but stable condition and is on a ventilator to help him breathe.

Meanwhile, the two 16-year-olds from Ramsgate charged with robbery and wounding appeared at Margate Youth Court last Wednesday. They were remanded to reappear on September 17 for a committal to crown court hearing. Pleas can be entered at that point.

China Gateway decision to be put to full council

THE vote to decide whether Phase 1 of the China Gateway industrial estate should go ahead has been deferred to Thursday, September 11.

At the district council chambers in Margate on Wednesday last week, the planning committee voted to push the matter back to full council.

Some of the 15-strong group felt it was too important for the committee alone to decide and that too many questions were unanswered.

The deferral was carried by eight votes to seven after Labour man Alan Poole moved a motion to send the matter to full council, his hand shaking as he handed a paper to Tory committee chairman Ken Gregory.

The decision was greeted with cheers from a packed public gallery. Many had thought the committee would simply follow officers' recommendations for approval.

The issue is one of the most contentious to hit Thanet in years.

Campaigners who used their allotted three-minute slots to speak out against the plans included filmmaker Norman Thomas, the Campaign to Protect Rural England's Brian Lloyd and Paul Wells, one of those campaigning to put the brakes on the project.

He said: "This committee should not be taking a decision this evening given the convoluted and complex implications concerning this application. I urge members to follow their consciences and defer this application to full council and to TDC scrutiny at the very least."

Developer Commercial Group Properties (CGP) wants to build the estate at Manston but has been met with resistance from campaigners across the isle, who question many facets of the operation.

Doubts over the number, and type, of jobs it would generate, the impact on the isle's underground water supplies and the traffic it could generate, have all been cited.

Two weeks ago, Labour leader Richard Nicholson called for more time to reach a decision, and at Wednesday's meeting some Tory councillors agreed the amendment should go to full council.

The decision to arrange the full meeting so soon after the deferral has surprised some.

Labour's Cllr Clive Hart said: "It seems awfully soon to me. The whole point in delaying the meeting was to flesh out the application, to make it more detailed so that answers to many of the questions being raised could be given - but a couple of weeks doesn't seem like it will be long enough."

NEWS IN BRIEF

More than fifty per cent
of us extinguish habit

THOUSANDS of smokers stubbed out the habit last year through the NHS Stop Smoking Service, figures released last week reveal.

According to the NHS, around 17,000 smokers pledged to give up with well over half managing the feat.

Figures for the Eastern and Coastal Kent Primary Care Trust reveal 7,997 set a date to quit with 56 per cent succeeding. Medway reported 2,711 vowing to quit and 49 per cent achieving it. West Kent saw 6,790 signing up and 67 per cent succeeding.

Not such a plum deal for farmers of the soft fruit

A POOR plum harvest has hit the county's farmers and severe frosts earlier in the year are to blame for what could be the worst yield in a decade and a half.

Fruit producers have reported poor returns of the soft fruit after the cold spring stopped bees from pollinating the blossom.

The early plum blossom coincided with wintry weather in March, according to staff at the National Fruit Collection in Brogdale, near Faversham, which is the country's leading resource on fruit.

Channel populated with crocodiles and sharks

A STUDY into prehistoric conditions in the English Channel has revealed giant crocodiles, great white sharks and sea snakes were part of the undersea population.

Around 50 million years ago researchers found the whole of Kent – the Channel and France from the coast into what is now Paris was a tropical lagoon teeming with diverse marine life on the planet.

Natural History Museum researchers said the shallow waters were similar to the seas around Indonesia or Thailand today.

Track shows off winning formula as racer visits

FORMULA One sensation Lewis Hamilton will be in the county on Sunday to meet and greet his fans.

The racer will be at Brands Hatch for the popular international touring car series DTM. But the focus is likely to be on Hamilton, who will perform an on-track display and sign autographs for fans.

Hamilton, 23, who finished runner-up in his debut world championship season last year, will take his 2008 Vodafone McLaren Mercedes MP4-23 car around the circuit.

Wader numbers plummet to give 'early warning'
Weather changes get birds in a flap

■ BY NICK AMES

CLIMATE change is being blamed for a change in the behaviour of the county's most commonly found birds.

According to the latest research, birds are laying their eggs earlier than 40 years ago, while coastal bird behaviour is also altering.

The trends are revealed in the latest State of the UK's Birds report – an annual publication produced by a coalition of conservation organisations looking at the fortunes of the UK's bird populations.

The report found wading birds, which visit Kent's food-rich estuaries and coastlines during winter from northerly and easterly breeding grounds, are changing their activity as a result of climate change.

Although the overall number of these birds increased by about 50 per cent up to the late 1990s, numbers have since started to drop.

Declines are particularly acute for several key species, including purple sandpipers, ringed plovers and dunlins, thought to be fuelled by the birds wintering elsewhere in Europe, where conditions are becoming more suitable.

The report confirms the dunlin, formerly the UK's most numerous winter wader, is now at its lowest level since records began. Although still found in internationally important numbers in the Thames Estuary, it has declined across the UK by 21 per cent.

The Thames Estuary is also internationally important for ringed plover, with the Medway

Photos: Dunlin: SUE FRANKLIN; Chaffinch: BEN HALL (both rspb-images.co)

COLD FEET: The dunlin (left) and the chaffinch are two of the species with recently reported behavioural changes classified as nationally important for the species.

The report found numbers to have reduced over the same time-period by 13 per cent, although numbers in Kent remain steady.

This highlights the importance of the county as a crucial safe-haven for birds escaping increasingly harsher conditions elsewhere.

In Kent gardens, information from the British Trust for Ornithology's Nest Record scheme shows the chaffinch is laying eggs about a week earlier than it did in the mid 1960s. Blue and great tits, robins and swallows, are showing similar patterns.

The report also indicates song thrushes may be rearing fewer young during dry summers.

Hester Phillips, RSPB South East, said: "This year's report shows that climate change is with us already and from our gardens to our seas, birds are having to respond rapidly simply to survive."

"As often before – birds are acting like the canaries in a mine shaft and giving us early warning of dangerous change."

Charity challenge from the heart

WHEN Derek Harding was born with a congenital disorder which left him with two holes in the heart, his outlook was bleak.

Yet 43 years on, the remarkable man – who was the youngest ever child to survive open heart surgery – is pledging to compete in the gruelling London Triathlon.

Mr Harding, from Margate, was just two years old when he went under the knife at King's College Hospital and now hopes by taking part in the event he will raise £1,000 for charity Heart Research UK.

The race involves a one and a half kilometer run, 40 kilometer bike ride then a 10 kilometre run.

He said: "After being introduced to this sport with a difference by my wife, three years ago,

I'm really looking forward to competing in the London Triathlon and raising money for such a worthy cause."

"I have a lot to be thankful for, without the innovative research funded by charities like Heart Research UK, I wouldn't have survived my third birthday."

To sponsor Mr Harding see his page www.justgiving.com/derekharding.

Your chance to see the latest proposals for Eurokent park

THE latest proposals for the development of the sprawling 99-acre Eurokent business park are to go on public display.

The plans will go on show at Clarendon House Grammar School in Clarendon Gardens, Ramsgate, between noon and 8pm on Saturday, September 13.

The masterplan has been developed by East Kent Opportunities, the joint venture between Kent County Council and Thanet council and includes new community facilities.

A small centre could be created with small-scale convenience shopping and the possibility of a health centre, close to Newington, Jackey Bakers sports ground and the newly-built Marlowe Innovation Centre.

It follows consultation with the local community and stakeholders which focused on whether Eurokent remained an appropriate location for comprehensive industrial development or whether more sustainable and compatible uses to the surrounding area would be more suited, such as leisure, community, housing and business.

Earmarked

Included in the latest proposals are plans for a mixed-use sustainable community.

They incorporate family housing, community facilities and business accommodation.

New cycle routes and pedestrian linkages are also included, and Jakey Bakers could benefit from a new sports pavilion.

Roger Gough, chairman of East Kent Opportunities, said: "During the consultation process it quickly became clear that the future of Eurokent is not based upon it being earmarked solely for industrial businesses."

The business park will be built between the Marlowe Academy and Westwood Cross. You can visit www.eurokent.org for more information on the project.

QUESTION & ANSWER

SARAH RICHARDSON

Q How do you view the role of an MEP?

A I intend to speak up for the people of the South East in the European Parliament. I will be their voice in Europe, rather than Europe's voice here.

This is important because the European Parliament affects our lives in more ways than we may realise.

Pressure from Europe contributed to post office closures and the introduction of home information packs. Europe also runs our trade policy which affects the prices of food in the shops.

I want to make the EU more accountable to the British people and question the introduction of yet more directives and decisions over how our money is spent.

Q What is your response to the frequent criticisms of the EU as being dominated by French and German interests? Do you think there are national power blocs among EU member states?

A The last Conservative government pushed for the expansion of the EU to include new members such as Poland and Hungary.

I supported this and it has made it harder for France and Germany to have it all their own way.

There are some issues that we have to sort out, though. For example, the French concession of an extra European Parliament building in Strasbourg, in addition to its main home in Brussels. This costs tax-payers £130 million a year and it should be scrapped.

Q How much influence do you think the European Parliament should have on British affairs?

A The role of the European Parliament should be to make sure Europe works in the best interests of the people, not to try to increase its power and influence in everyday life.

There are many issues – air and water quality, climate change, trade – which are international and I want to make sure the European Parliament gives fair consideration to the needs of the British people.

Q Should Britain adopt the euro as its currency?

A No. If we adopted the euro we would lose the power to control mortgage rates and prices in the shops.

Q Would you support greater European integration?

A No, if that meant more powers for Europe and fewer decisions made at home.

I believe in an independent Britain with its own taxes, borders and currency.

I want to see more decisions taken closer to the people, and for people to have more control over their lives.

While I see value in working with our European neighbours on issues like trade and climate change, I balk at the idea of Europe setting our taxes or the creation of a European army.

Q What do you think of the Irish vote on the European treaty?

A That's a matter for the Irish and I only wish Gordon Brown had allowed the British to have a referendum.

Every time a nation has had a chance to vote on a more integrated Europe, it has rejected the idea. France and Holland, of course, have already rejected what is essentially the same treaty in their own referendums in 2005.

EU law states that all 27 member states must ratify the treaty before it can come into force.

Now that Ireland has failed to ratify the treaty, in legal terms it should be dead.

Q Should we have had a vote on it?

A Yes. We were promised a referendum in the Labour Party's last manifesto. Mr Brown has bottled it now because he can't face another humiliating defeat.

Q How far would you like to see the EU expanded?

A There needs to be a proper discussion of what we want Europe to look like in the future. I don't believe the EU should be an exclusive club.

We should actively consider the membership of a number of countries, such as Turkey, Croatia and Ukraine, if they want to join.

New venture goes for the hard shell

BY NICK AMES

SNAILS in the bedroom might not be everyone's idea of a friendly night-time companion – but they are proving a success when it comes to exploiting the “slow food” market.

The molluscs do not have the worldwide appeal of the burger, or fish and chips – but as interest in exotic foods grows alongside desires for homegrown produce, an unusual UK market has emerged.

L'escargot is a favourite dish across the Channel, with the French flavouring the little beasts with garlic and butter.

And Helen Howard, from Littlebourne, near Canterbury, has now spotted a gap in the UK food-producing chain for locally-reared snails after her daughter attended an agricultural college in London.

So she turned a spare bedroom at her home into a farm for the shelled critters and is now supplying a number of restaurants across the county.

The snails are fed on dried milk and chalk, which helps to keep them healthy and their shells strong.

Ms Howard formed H and RH Escargot with her daughter and keeps 2,000 breeding snails in her terraced home, and demand from restaurants outstrips supply.

She said: “So far I am catering to a niche market – I sell to restaurants and pubs and also on occasions to members of the public who want to experiment a bit when it comes to food.

“I was quite that surprised pubs are giving them a try, but they are – usually with large amounts of garlic butter to make sure people who are a bit tentative can have a go at eating them.

TASTY: Helen Howard doesn't like to say 'garlic butter' but is determined that her slimy friends are not for keeping

“In other countries there are some differences in how they are dished up. For instance, in Italy and Spain, where they are also a delicacy, there is a lot of variety.

“I have heard of them being part of a beef stew – rather as oysters are. They can form part of a seafood platter with mackerel and prawns, or even go in a risotto. Mushroom is a very good accompaniment as the flavours complement one another.

“The main thing is that they have to be cooked properly. They need to be cooked slowly to avoid a rubbery, chewy texture.”

Ms Howard also admits to having some feelings of affection for her small animals.

“It's a bit like not mentioning Christmas to a turkey – don't say the words garlic butter,” she said.

“I made it a rule earlier not to try to identify them and see that they have individual characteristics, as sooner or later they are going to end up as part of a meal.

“The funny thing is their shells are all different, so I probably could identify them if I wished to do so. But at the moment they are strictly for the dinner table.”

Employers are warned to take note of duties to workforce

TOP law firm Thomson Snell and Passmore is warning businesses across the county to ensure they are aware of current employment legislation and duties – including health and safety and paid holiday – towards their workers.

The move comes as the Government prepares a publicity campaign to highlight workers' rights and the setting up of a telephone hotline to deal with problems.

Nick Hobden, employment law partner at the company, said: “It will be even more important to check issues such as the minimum wage levels and the basic requirements for obligatory employment documentation to ensure employers do not fall foul of the law.

“The Government is committed to launching a more effective joined-up-approach publicity campaign to raise awareness of employment rights.

“Workers will be able to call a dedicated enforcement helpline to report mistreatment such as illegal – below the national minimum wage – pay rates.

“The Government is not satisfied that existing access to enforcement agencies such as the Gangmasters Licensing Authority or HM Revenue and Customs are providing adequate redress.

“So a new Fair Employment Enforcement Board with its own telephone help-line gateway to justice is to be set up this year to co-ordinate the work of agencies that, for example, check firms with responsibility for health and safety are taking proper steps to guard against risks of personal injuries to their workers.

“There is a huge amount of Government sensitivity towards vulnerable workers.

“While the new initiative does not mean any further statutory regulation will be implemented, the Government hopes this initiative will boost awareness of employment rights and ensure they are enforced.

“The initiative is likely to have most impact on employers who use ‘atypical’ workers such as casuals, self-employed independent contractors, migrant workers, agency workers, fixed-term workers, part-time workers, young workers and low-paid workers.”

War through the ages

Crowds flock to military extravaganza

■ BY JON COATES

THOUSANDS of families were treated to the UK's largest military re-enactment event during the Bank Holiday weekend.

More than 35,000 people poured into the County Showground in Detling Hill from Saturday to Monday.

They were able to see the conflicts which have shaped the modern world brought to life with a bang at the Military Odyssey.

On a new larger battlefield, soldiers, tanks and aircraft fought key battles, allowing visitors to witness history unfold first hand.

Living history groups used a small village on the battlefield to create convincing scenery. A vast array of groups attended, covering diverse periods from the ancient Greeks, Vikings and medieval knights, to Napoleonic troopers, the American Civil War, the two world wars and Vietnam.

With both indoor and outdoor trade stalls and rare vehicles on display, the event offered a full day out for families.

Event organiser Gary Howard said: "It went very well. On the Saturday there was good weather, so the crowds were up on last year."

"The abysmal English weather struck on the Sunday, but we had a good turnout on the Monday."

"We were lucky the aircraft were able to come over despite the adverse weather conditions, and it was quite a sight to see fighter and spotter planes appearing through breaks in the weather over the battlefield."

"All the events happened, there were no problems and we had about 35,500 people attend, which is the same as last year."

He added: "Military Odyssey has gone from strength to strength. We will be back next year looking to put on an even better show."

The three-day event attracted many of

WINGED WONDER: A range of aircraft defied the poor weather to add to the fantastic experience the top living history groups from across the UK and Europe.

It featured contributions from groups representing Celts, Saxons, Normans, medieval jousting knights, medieval households and Napoleonic times, which included troopers from Poland, Russia and France.

The First World War was represented by aircraft from the Manston Air Museum along with the 10th Essex, the Birmingham Pals and the Royal Flying Corps contingent.

Visitors were able to find out about life during the Second World War with the airborne Screaming Eagles Living History Group, the 29th Historical Association, LHA, the 514th QM Truck Regiment Re-enactment Group and The Burma Mule Association, with their pack mules and other regiments.

Some of Britain's best Second World War groups joined the Allied Contingent, along with the Red Army's Second Guards and their Women at Work display, while the German Second Battle Group and other Axis Forces groups also appeared.

There was also the chance to learn more about later conflicts from organisations such as the Warsaw Pact Forces, the Vietnam Special Forces, Airborne and Fire Base groups, the American Infantry Preservation Society, the Desert Storm group and Her Majesty's Armed Forces.

WIN WIN: Hartsdown pupils (above left) turned in a 'gold-medal performance'. There was similar delight at Thanet College, where Melinda May and Heidi Dawson (centre) and Shannon Taylor, Danny Walsh and Jessica Laphorn all did well.

'Olympian' GCSE efforts rewarded

BY TOM BETTS

THANET College students were among those jumping for joy when they picked up their long-awaited GCSE results.

The college celebrated successful results overall with a 98 per cent pass rate in all subjects – there were lots of smiling faces as students aged from 17 to 60 opened their results.

Mature students Melinda May and Heidi Dawson, who have juggled family life with studying, achieved Bs in science.

Shannon Taylor, Jessica Laphorn and Danny Walsh, all 17, were thrilled with their results in business communications, English, maths and science.

Over at Margate's Hartsdown Technology College, principal Andy Somers hailed "an Olympian effort by students, staff and parents" to achieve a record year for GCSE results.

He said: "This truly is a gold-medal performance – we have surpassed our best-ever performance from last year by at least ten per cent. Around 57 per cent of our students gained five or more A* to C grades – which is a fantastic achievement for this college.

He added: "It's been an excellent year. The pass level for five A* to C or more exams, including English and maths, has increased and is showing steady sustainable improvement year on year."

A record number of the college's students will be moving into its sixth form in September.

Impressive performances at traditional and vocational subjects were recorded at St George's School in Broadstairs.

Sixty-five per cent of candidates gained five A* to C grades, many excelling with high grades and surpassing expectations.

Head-teacher Keith Rumblo said: "I wholeheartedly praise the students and the staff for a magnificent overall effort. The number who achieved English and maths among their five A*-C passes was just over 20 per cent, an improvement on last year, and well on the way to meeting the Government's 30 per cent figure under the National Challenge by 2011."

A pass rate of more than 52 per cent in GCSE A* to C levels signalled a 13 per cent improvement on last year's results for Ramsgate's Marlowe Academy.

Principal Ian Johnson said: "Six years ago the pass rate for our predecessor Ramsgate School was a mere four per cent. Ten years ago it was only one per cent.

"We have come a long way towards meeting national expectations and boosting the aspirations of our students."

He added: "The pass rate for GCSEs A* to C including English and maths – the Government's new standards indicator – almost doubled to 13 per cent compared with seven per cent last year.

"The goalposts have been moved with this new English and maths marker.

"We have met, spectacularly, the old standard of five GCSEs A* to C. Now we have a new challenge to meet 30 per cent five GCSEs, including English and maths by 2011.

"I am confident we are well on course to meet, and possibly exceed, this new target."

Each week we get a mystery writer to air their views on living in on the Isle of Thanet...

CCTV is the answer to a wee problem in our tower blocks

HAVING lived in Ramsgate's Trove Court tower block for a couple of years, two things have really peeved us off (pun intended.)

1. Some people and dog owners think it is OK to use the lifts and the stairwells as a urinal, so the rest of us are expected to wade through their mess to reach our front doors.
2. Thanet council shows no interest in preventing this happening.

So who is doing this?
There can be only three possibilities:

- a) Tenants
If it is people in the first two categories, then they are in breach of their tenancy agreement (they are responsible for the behaviour of their visitors), so the council should act.

If it is people in the last category, then they are guilty at the very least of trespass and littering. The anti-litter campaign run by Thanet council – Drop It And Cop It – gives details of fixed-penalty notices of £80 for littering, although only £50 for failing to pick up dog mess.

That would be hundreds of pounds a week if Thanet council could be bothered to look at the CCTV images.

Does CCTV provide usable images? Yes! Earlier this year there was an arrest made in Trove Court when someone was caught with a machine-gun. Police were able to see the suspect bringing the weapon into the building in a bag.

Also, earlier this year, letters were sent to the homes of teenagers who had been 'hanging out' in the lifts, stairwells and front entrances of Trove Court and Kennedy House tower blocks.

They were identified by community support officers and the police as having been in the blocks from pictures from CCTV.

So the images can be saved – and are good enough to identify individuals.

Who looks at the CCTV images?
The cameras outside the building are watched live by the Thanet community safety team, which is also available via the help-points at the entrances to the blocks.

The cameras inside the blocks, however, record continuously and their footage can be viewed by housing response officers – the very people responsible for cleaning up the mess.

If this were your job, would you go on cleaning up urine almost daily, or would you do something about it?

If they need help to put names to faces, then there are the occupants of almost 180 flats who would be willing to help.

Why not publish the pictures in papers, on the Thanet council website, on posters in the blocks, or on websites like Bebo or Facebook, along with something like 'Can you identify this person? They may be able to help investigations into alleged anti-social behaviour'?

While some people would wear an ASBO as a badge of honour, is being known for peeing in a lift going to make you look cool with your mates and attract girls?

The solution to the problem is available, so why is Thanet council so idle and why does it expect its residents to live like this?

Question time is a game for a laugh

Has anyone else been to the game show that Thanet council puts on every few weeks called The Planning Committee?

It's better than the Olympics – you'd think it was enormous fun if it didn't have the future of this whole area in its hands.

On Wednesday, August 20, the committee was due to discuss a few things such as whether someone could set up a fish stall at Ramsgate harbour or build a small extension on to the back of their house – oh, and China Gateway, a massive industrial complex that would take up all of Manston Business Park, plus hundreds of acres of farmland nearby.

A packed public gallery cheered when the chair of the committee – the Anne Robinson of council committees, the fearless Ken Gregory – brought China Gateway forward to head the agenda.

But he warned us strictly that we weren't to interfere with people in any way, or attack them afterwards, or make a noise. I can't imagine what normally happens, but I might go again – it sounds as if it can get really exciting.

The public was allowed to speak – an innovation recently brought in and for which we should be grateful – but in such a manner that only the best-trained game-show contestants could do well at.

Three people are allowed to speak, with objectors applying to the council on a first-come-first-served basis, so you have to be quick off the mark to get picked – or it might only be the people with the weakest arguments and a friend of the developers who get to the final... sorry, meeting.

Then you get three minutes, very strictly controlled, with a bell to tell

DIFFERENT VALUES? The property being built by Cllr Simon Day dwarfs its neighbours

Come on, Roger, same rules apply

The recent story about an extension being built without planning consent and its retrospective application being quite rightly refused – and a subsequent appeal then being turned down by the planning inspector – was indeed a success story for Thanet council's planning department.

I also note with pleasure the positive warning given by culture boss Cllr Roger Latchford OBE, who said the case sent out a strong message to homeowners considering having extension built.

He said: "Starting work before a decision was made shows little regard for the planning process and has proved a costly mistake."

Fine words, Roger, and how they must give heart to those in your ward who are complaining about the large, out-of-character building at 35 Berkeley Road in Birchington, currently being built by your fellow ward councillor Simon Day, who seems to be able to ignore planning regulations.

However, the planning committee on Wednesday last week ignored the fact that this case also showed "little regard for the planning process".

We can now look forward to your coming to the aid of local residents by championing their cause at the next full council meeting and voting to overturn this decision.

Bill Furness

you when time's up. And you have to stop, or Ken does something terrible to you – we didn't find out what because all the speakers were too scared to try carrying on after the bell.

But you have more Big Brother-type tasks in front of you. As well as overcoming your nerves at public speaking and wondering if you'll manage to gabble out your objections in three minutes, you also have to master the technology.

For some reason, the public speakers get the worst microphones in the room. Nobody tells them how to adjust them – in the hope, presumably, that you waste some of your three minutes hilariously fighting with your mic.

They screech like an amateur rock band as soon as they're turned on, and go on echoing and screaming feedback throughout your speech.

If you ask how to use the mic – bang goes another 30 seconds of your three minutes.

When the council members speak, their mics work fine. So it must be a deliberate challenge to the public speakers to be given the rubbish equipment.

The council planners then explain the proposal – brilliantly done by Doug Brown.

Then the committee has to make up its mind. But it didn't.

Fortunately there was a rebellion in the ranks and by a narrow vote it was decided to defer the decision to full council.

"Phew, it's off my back," said chairman Ken, who got on with deciding about the fish stall etc.

This would all be a scream if it wasn't so important.

Why are we making vital decisions about Thanet's future in this ludicrous way?

Politics and parish council have to mix

I refer to the letter (August 13) from Cllr Sheila Bransfield, chairwoman of Acol Parish Council.

I share Cllr Bransfield's personal view that party politics should not be discussed inside the parish council offices.

However, we live in a free and democratic society; therefore our elected parish councillors have both a moral and a legal right to discuss party politics in the media in their capacity as elected parish councillors.

Unlike places such as Cuba and the People's Republic of China, our parish councillors are free to make their own decisions.

For example, if someone decided to stand for election for Acol Parish Council, as either an Independent or as a candidate for the Monster Raving Looney Party, they would have every right to do so – this is the reality, even though some of us may not like it.

In her letter, Cllr Bransfield said: "We declare ourselves apolitical, as we do not allow any politics."

I find that sentence quite shocking coming from the chairwoman of a local council.

The fact that an elected parish councillor can believe politics is not involved in business such as deciding how council taxpayers' money is spent is beyond belief.

We are not talking party politics here, but we are talking politics.

She went on to say: "It is my personal belief that there should be no place for politics in local government."

That is as absurd as saying 'It is my personal belief football should not be played on football pitches'.

The following is the Oxford online

Don't get involved in Labour blame game

It was interesting to read Cllr John Worrow's letter (August 13) when he explained Thanet South MP Dr Steve Ladyman's attempt to blame the "Tory media" for our concerns over the economy.

I should not worry about this, Cllr Worrow. Dr Ladyman is just toeing the party line – after all, Tony Blair and Gordon Brown have blamed the Tories for all of New Labour's failures for more than 10 years.

Leadership without blame is something the Labour Party has yet to get to grips with, and something it should try looking into definition of the word 'Politics':

We are a gateway for tourists, not China

Thanet is for tourism – not China Gateway, which will not bring lots of employment as some members of Thanet council would have us believe.

If the council had thought about the geography of the isle, Westwood Cross should not have been built – our towns could have had a revamp with the tourism attractions coming first.

When it rains, where do visitors go? They do not want to get in their cars to look at shops – but to venues close to the beaches.

If China Gateway gets the go-ahead, our roads will be gridlocked, with lorries transporting goods 365 days a year, 24 hours a day.

Think about the residents of Acol, Woodchurch and Birchington.

It is quality of life we should be thinking about, with conservation and preservation of our valuable land and existing assets.

In ten years' time many of the current greedy decision-makers could be gone – and what a legacy they'll be leaving for our children.

It is time the two-legged donkeys in our council chambers left. They are not listening to the electorate.

Give us back our isle. Hey, folks, how about devolution for Thanet?

Jean Wisker

Worror was elected under false premise

Now that Conservative Party member and campaigner John Worror has publicly declared his political allegiance, will he drop all pretence to being an Independent, resign his seat on Birchington Parish Council and stand for election on the Tory ticket?

No matter how Cllr Worror parcels it up, he stood as an Independent when, by his own admission, he is a Conservative activist involved in the Tory political machinery.

There is something un-English about politicians gaining office under a false premise – a bit like cheating at cricket, or diving in the penalty area in a football match in an effort to hoodwink the referee.

Whatever happened to our fair sense of play?

Thanks for helping me get my purse back

I would like to thank the kind lady who handed my purse in to the bus driver on the number nine bus from Minnis Bay.

I had helped off a lady with a child and didn't put my purse away – it must have dropped to the floor.

My life was in the purse and for a brief moment my heart stopped.

I would also like to thank The Best Shop in Minnis for letting me use their phone and providing Frank to drive me in hot pursuit of the bus to the depot.

I would also like to thank the bus driver and manager who rang the Birchington Medical Centre phone number in my purse so I wasn't worried, and the receptionist at the centre who stayed behind to ring me.

Thanks to all these people – Thanet is a truly wonderful place.

Council will laminate Thanet in concrete

One of my policies as an Independent candidate in the forthcoming general election will be to call for a halt to the Government's deranged proposal to build millions of homes in the South East over the next 15 years.

This is already the most over-populated region in Europe. Thanet is seriously threatened thanks to the Conservative-dominated district council's Teutonic eagerness to obey Government orders and laminate the island in concrete.

We have seen a huge rise in the cost of food, caused not just by fuel rises, but by an increase in worldwide demand for food.

Domestic wheat prices at the British farm-gates have doubled. Farming is back in pole position as a major economic activity.

With the global population likely to reach nine billion by 2050 and the concomitant demand for food now far outstretching world resources, we need to be conserving our priceless and irreplaceable agricultural land.

Houses and warehouses may be desirable, but food and water is, critically, more so. Am I the only candidate who understands this?

FUN FOR ALL: A whole host of entertainments will be on offer as part of the Hop Festival, including a trip on the historical railway, below

A festival is brewing

Town invites you to celebrate beer

THE streets of Faversham will come alive with music and entertainment as the 17th Hop Festival arrives this weekend.

Street entertainers, puppet shows and musicians will be keeping locals and visitors in the spirit of the festival as Faversham holds its annual celebration. With the finest locally-produced food and drink from the Garden of England on offer, the event should provide yet another unforgettable weekend.

The Hop Festival celebrates the days when thousands of Londoners would visit Kent to bring in the hop harvest on a working holiday. Dance groups will be demonstrating traditional moves in the streets, while revellers will also have the opportunity to move their dancing feet.

There will be live music on two main stages in the town centre and at a number of pubs. Among the many diverse acts performing are Blue Devils, Boughton Fz Heads, Faversham Mission Brass, Hot Rats, Hullabaloo, Jumbo Gumbo, Trommelfluit and Wilson Ford.

The opening ceremony will be conducted on the Spitfire Stage outside the Guildhall at 10.30am on Saturday by the Mayor and Mayoress of Swale and the Mayor of Faversham.

There will be a free Appalachian dogging workshop at the Alexander Centre at 11am and dancers can take part in the Hoppers Ball, also at the Alexander Centre, at 8pm.

Tickets are available by phoning 01795 417216.

On Sunday the procession starts at 11am and will make its way from the Water Tower in Station Road, past Faversham railway station, along Preston Street and into Market Place.

Shoppers will find plenty of unique bargains as a craft fair will be held at the Alexander Centre from 10am to 5pm both days.

To mark the 150th anniversary of the town's railway, the Faversham Society is mounting an exhibition and on Saturday brewery Shepherd Neame will be running the Spitfire Steam Train along the route of the first steam trains to travel from Chatham to Faversham.

On its return route to London Victoria, the train will wend its way through the heart of hop country via Canterbury, Ashford and Tonbridge.

Return tickets to London Victoria are priced from £55-£82.50, with concessions available. Afternoon round trips from Faversham to Ramsgate are priced from £15 to £22. Advance booking is essential.

To book, phone 01795 542285, or visit www.shepherdneame.co.uk.

COMEDY CLUB

Friday, September 5
Theatre Royal, Margate

ANOTHER host of comedians will be aiming for the funny bone at the next Comedy Club.

Chambers and Nettleton are among the rare female double acts making an impact on the comedy circuit, winning audiences over with their warmth, charm and caustic wit.

Wannabe rock star Sam Avery (pictured) is also on the bill, although he nearly eschewed comedy for a life in the music industry when he was signed up by BMG Records at the age of 17. Sadly his career did not take off, but a life on the stage came along in a different form when he discovered a knack for comedy.

Once named one of the top

10 stand-ups in Britain, Mike Gunn has a bone-dry wit, a deadpan nature and some of the funniest stories around. Having done a variety of grim jobs, including a spell as an undertaker, Gunn has mastered the skill of being likeable and edgy at the same time. He has written for The 11 O'Clock Show and Match of the Day.

The show starts at 7.45pm and is for over-18s only. Tickets cost £10. To book call 0845 130 1786 or 01227 787787.

THE FAIR MAID OF THE WEST

Thursday, September 4
Salmonstone Grange, Margate

FOR those who like a good yarn, Thomas Heywood's The Fair Maid of the West is a rip-roaring adventure for all the family.

The Theatre Royal Margate's first open-air show, it is an epic tale of love, triumph, disaster, heroes, villains and all manner of swashbuckling.

The 16th century story follows the adventures of a humble barmaid Bess who falls for handsome nobleman Spencer.

When a tavern brawl leaves Spencer with blood on his hands and the urgent need to flee, Bess vows to follow her true love out onto the high seas.

The show is presented by Third Party, an international touring company specialising in Elizabethan and Jacobean plays.

One of the most successful dramatists of his time, Thomas Heywood wrote, or had a hand in writing, more than 100 plays.

Queen Elizabeth I loved his Fair Maid Part One so much that she commissioned a second instalment, leading to Third Party's condensed version of the two.

The show starts at 7pm and the grounds will be open from 5.30pm.

Bring your own seating or rugs and picnics are welcome.

Tickets cost £10. To book call 0845 130 1786 or 01227 787787.

PICADILLY DANCE ORCHESTRA

Wednesday, September 3
Marlowe Theatre, Canterbury

ALLOW yourself to be transported back to a time of joyful nostalgia with Michael Law's Picadilly Dance Orchestra.

The magical world of Hollywood, Broadway and the West End between the wars is brought back to the here and now by the smooth, stylish 10-piece orchestra.

Relive the golden age of popular music as experienced from the 20s to the 40s, along with some toe-tapping jazz and dance music.

The musicians will be joined for this 20th anniversary concert by vocalists Tracey Stewart-Fry and Michael Law, pictured, as they bring to life the unforgettable songs of Cole Porter, George Gershwin, Noel Coward, Irving Berlin and more.

Fantastic tunes will be linked by intriguing and hilarious anecdotes about the interesting people the orchestra has encountered over the last 20 years, from Princesses Margaret, Anne and Diana to Sean Connery and Julie Andrews.

The show will be the last to be presented by The Friends of the Marlowe in the main auditorium of the theatre in its present form, so don't miss your chance to be there.

The show starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £15/£13, concessions available.

To book your tickets, phone the box office on 01227 787787.

Food as Grandma used to make it

Enjoy home-cooked delights when you eat out

■ Siam Kitchen

AUTHENTIC home-cooked Thai food drawing on family experience from South-East Asia is available in Ramsgate.

Kitty Naepnian, the owner, has developed a menu which dates back to her grandmother's time.

"We all grew up in the kitchen," she said. "It's no surprise that we wanted to open our own restaurant. What can we say, cooking and eating is our expertise."

Her family have restaurants in both the UK and US, and Siam Kitchen is justly proud of its food, ambience, staff and views across the sea.

The current favourite dish is Massaman beef curry, a tender piece of beef slow-cooked in coconut milk with aromatic curry paste, roasted peanut and sweet potato.

"The meat will just melt in the mouth accompanied by steamed Thai jasmine fragrant rice," said Kitty, who once cooked for George and Alex Best in when working in her aunt's restaurant in Surrey.

"My main objective is to give the freshest home-cooked food with good value for money to all our customers."

"The service will always be polite and with a smile."

"The atmosphere is homely and clean and we are honest with the customer - we never over-price."

The restaurant is open from noon until 2.30pm and 6pm-11pm seven days a week.

Delights from under the ocean

■ Atlantis

THIS Ramsgate restaurant has a very special dish to reflect its name and seaside location.

The Grand Seafood Platter includes lobster, oysters, scallops, mussels and tiger prawns.

Restaurant manager Nicola Batchelor said the combination of enthusiastic, happy staff, exciting, tempting menus with local produce to the fore, and friendly service had all contributed to ensuring diners - including Timothy Spall, Big Brother star Nick Bateman and presenters of TV's Location, Location show - were satisfied.

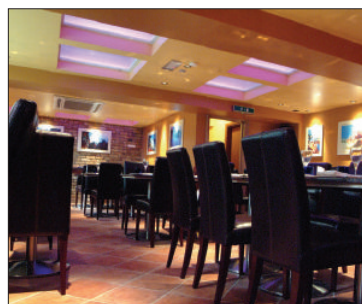

She said: "Our varied offerings on our à la carte menu and our lighter options such as oysters, coupled with our ability to cater for functions and events, are all important. We recently hosted a themed Elvis wedding and were asked to provide a life-sized cut-out of him - naturally we obliged."

"Another thing we offer is fantastic views over the harbour."

"Our chef is passionate about food and this is reflected in his menus and quality of dishes he produces."

Atlantis is open on Sunday from noon until 4pm, Monday 7.30pm-9.30pm for last orders, Tuesday to Friday noon to 2.30pm last orders and 7pm-9.30pm last orders. Saturday it is open from noon until 10pm last orders.

Locally authentic tastes

■ Thai House

THIS award-winning restaurant, now enjoying its sixth summer in Birchington, serves superb authentic Thai food with some Malay and Chinese influences.

The food is beautifully presented with delightfully carved vegetables.

The restaurant in Birchington has a Thai themed décor which is pleasant and relaxing. The function room, which seats up to 18 people comfortably, has an 18th century hearth and is an ideal venue for private parties.

Victor Hill, proprietor, said: "The menu is varied and offers a range of reasonably priced set-menu options. The restaurant offers a good wine list with a number of new and old world wines with robust flavours. For food lovers, Thai cuisine offers a rich variety of flavours, textures and tastes from the subtle to the spicy. All in all, the restaurant offers a great night out with a delicious and copious meal at a very good price."

A local chef makes all the sauces and pastes, and as far as possible Kentish produce is used.

Victor added: "Our biggest selling dish is sizzling king prawns, eight chunky prawns served sizzling hot on a griddle pan in a delicious red curry sauce and garnished with basil leaves and red chilli peppers."

"The assertive taste of the prawns and their delicious texture stand up against the piquant red curry paste, and is assisted by the cooling effects of lime juice and a dash of coconut milk. This makes a fabulous meal served with a bowl of hot steaming Thai jasmine rice and perhaps a plate of Thai style stir-fried green beans with diced mushroom."

A number of celebrity chefs have tried the food at Thai House and given their approval, including Anthony Worrall Thompson, who awarded red curry lamb first place in the Thanet Summer Sizzle competition.

Thai House has also been nominated for the Produced In Kent Best Restaurant award for the last three years.

CHEF RECOMMENDS

Atlantis

Start with oysters served natural with shallot vinegar or deep fried in tempura batter with a soy sauce and lime dip. Then have pan fried sea bass with couscous, roasted fennel and lemon butter. Dessert: Almond and vanilla crunch – vanilla ice-cream rolled in biscuit and almonds, deep fried and served with a luxurious vanilla cream.

Tartar Frigate

Thai style fish soup, medley of fish served in a chilli, ginger and lemon grass broth, is a great starter. Then fillets of bream on a crisp risotto cake with a mussel and saffron sauce.

Comfort Inn

Share a 16 inch plate loaded with garlic mushrooms, onion rings, cheesy garlic bread, chicken wings, potato skins topped with bacon and blue cheese dressing. Then move on to alla marinara – prawns, salmon, mussels and olives in a tomato-based sauce with pasta and salad. Complete the meal with treacle sponge pudding.

Pad Thai

Try Thai green or red curry with steamed rice, tom yum seafood noodle soup and braised beef noodle soup.

The Racing Greyhound

Start with home made potato skins filled with ham and cheddar cheese with garlic mayonnaise dip. For the main course enjoy breast of duck with black cherry sauce served with a selection of potatoes and fresh vegetables. Freshly made banana split is the perfect finish.

Mortons Fork

Start with roasted red pepper and tomato soup with a freshly baked bread roll. Then sauteed chicken breast filled with julienne of vegetables with Madeira sauce a choice of potatoes, fresh seasonal vegetables or salad. End with home made St Clement's meringue with cream.

Sundays offer a two course meal for £10.45 or three courses for £12.45.

Proprietor Shaun Newstead, who runs the business with his wife Liz while son Jamie is chef, said: "We pride ourselves on serving homemade food while our customers dine in a 17th century building."

Best selling dish at present is salmon and spring onion fish cakes, an ideal starter or light snack.

"We offer good food at value for money prices in a relaxed atmosphere with that personal touch. Jamie is a remarkable chef who always produces the goods.

"We were nominated for the final three in the Taste of Kent Awards and feedback from our customers is always very good.

"We balance choice of menu, ambience, staff and service and location as they are all equally important."

Open Monday to Saturday noon – 2.30pm and 7pm until late. Sunday noon until 4pm.

YOUR TV REVIEW

HOLLYOAKS

Channel 4, 6.30pm, weeknights

ROGUE RESTAURANTS

BBC One, 8.30pm, Wednesday

■ BY TOM BETTS

IN LIFE, I tend to divide the people I know into two categories: those who watch Hollyoaks and those who don't.

It's a cruel segregation system, but it seems to separate the non-Hollyoaks viewer wheat from the chaff.

For many of you I'm sure what I have just said is akin to blasphemy, the Chester-set soap is among the highest rated shows on TV, but still, it must be said.

Not even Sundays are sacred anymore. Blighting the Sabbath for two-and-a-half-hours each week is the omnibus, which my friend calls "hang-over TV".

I agree; it's enough to make you feel your worst.

For more than a decade this dismal offering has tormented my life.

I am not allowed to watch the news when I return home from work anymore, I have to settle down with my beans on toast and try and ignore what Becca and Justin are up to, or if Jake is trying to kill Nancy... again.

The sugar coating on this bitter pill is that 80 per cent of the principal leads are stunningly attractive.

It certainly wouldn't pull in as many viewers on the strength of its storylines, of that there is little doubt.

It's ham-fisted approach to a recent drug addiction story line has been nothing short of embarrassing, but even more shameful is the huge audiences it pulls in, day after day, week after week.

DISH OF THE DAY: Matt Alwright (right) serves up some Rogue Restaurants on BBC One

This isn't just tripe, it is grade A tripe. Piffle of the very highest order.

If the cast weren't so damn beautiful and sun-kissed it would put me right off my tea.

Putting me off my food, but in a slightly different manner, is the BBC's Rogue Restaurants.

A show that should have the tagline, "just when you thought it was safe to tuck into that takeaway chicken balti".

This is basically Rogue Traders with runny noses wiped on dirty dishcloths and an E. coli headcount that would make the Chinese feel sparsely populated.

Pious Matt Alwright, who has never made a single mistake in his life, sits in judgement over the activities of various premises of dubious hygiene standards.

It's the kind of show that makes you never want to eat out again such are the slack standards on display.

Still it all makes for a wonderfully entertaining half-hour of television.

If only they'd serve up some of these dishes down Hollyoaks way...

YOUR WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY RUSSELL GRANT

AQUARIUS (Jan 21-Feb 19)

ERRATIC spending could get you in trouble. As much as it pains you, it's time to create a budget. If you don't take control you won't be able to meet your obligations. This is a terrible plight for an independent soul like you. Friends may try to pressure you into a romantic relationship.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Aquarius 09067-531762

TAURUS (Apr 21-May 21)

IT'S better to obey your own impulses than try and please the crowd. Remember that you'll have to live with the consequences of any decisions you make. Going against the grain can cause temporary discomfort at first, but it will lead to long-term satisfaction.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Taurus 09067-531753

LEO (Jul 24-Aug 23)

A CLOSE relationship could fall by the wayside. It appears an old friend or business contact is determined to make a fresh start. This may mean breaking off all of their old relationships. It hurts your feelings to be cast off like this, but there's nothing you can do.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Leo 09067-531756

SCORPIO (Oct 24-Nov 22)

AN unplanned pregnancy or romantic break-up could rock your world. Go off to some secluded place where you can lick your wounds in private. It won't do to let your detractors see your disappointment. Resist the urge to take advantage of someone in business.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Scorpio 09067-531759

PISCES (Feb 20-Mar 20)

YOU'RE tired of playing by the rules. Unfortunately, going your own way could destroy a close relationship. A business or romantic partner is relying on you to work within the system. If you defy it, their reputation will suffer. Your boss is bearing down hard.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Pisces 09067-531763

GEMINI (May 22-Jun 22)

YOUR reputation could be battered and bruised this week. Nothing you do can repair the damage. It's probably best to keep a low profile until the drama dies down. Eventually, cooler heads will prevail and you'll be able to appeal to these people's better instincts.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Gemini 09067-531754

VIRGO (Aug 24-Sep 23)

A BUSINESS or romantic partner could try to seek their freedom. Instead of insisting on their staying, grant them their independence. You're a lot more self-sufficient than they think. Once they realise the mistake they've made, they'll hold you in higher esteem.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Virgo 09067-531757

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23-Dec 21)

SOMEONE may decide to move away from home in a fit of pique. You're shocked to learn how unhappy this person is. They never gave any indication. Perhaps you've been so busy you have let this relationship fall by the wayside. Don't try to bully your friend into staying.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Sagittarius 09067-531760

ARIES (Mar 21-Apr 20)

DEALING with bureaucracy could cause lots of headaches. Keep a file of all the paperwork you receive. Be sure to document the names and contact information of anyone you deal with. Someone who is an expert could try to use their influence for personal gain.

CANCER (Jun 23-Jul 23)

BEWARE of falling under the sway of a popular movement. There's no such thing as a quick fix. The leader of this trend could soon be exposed as a fraud. Unpleasant surroundings at work could make your job much more difficult. You may want to seek other employment.

LIBRA (Sep 24-Oct 23)

A HEALTH problem could crop up quite suddenly. It may be difficult to find the source of this trouble at first. Traffic tie ups and technical problems will slow your progress. Keep a good supply of music to pass the time. If you have to wait, you might as well be entertained.

IT'S hard to follow through with your plans, because you're so easily distracted. Resist the temptation to get involved with a secret romance. This relationship will only lead to heartache. The reason you're drawn to someone different is that they appeal to your unorthodox side.

ON GENERAL RELEASE

HELLBOY II: THE GOLDEN ARMY (12A)

The sequel to Guillermo del Toro's 2004 fantasy is every bit as fast and furious as its predecessor, melding dazzling production design with wry humour and explosive action sequences. Here del Toro is given free rein to let his imagination run amok, concocting a dark and bloody fairy-tale full of trolls, goblins and a nine foot Angel Of Death. Hellboy II: The Golden Army is a triumph of design.

STAR WARS: THE CLONE WARS (PG)

Just when you thought the Star Wars bandwagon had finally ground to a halt on the silver screen, here comes the first computer-animated movie in the saga. The Clone Wars is set on the front lines of an intergalactic struggle between good and evil, and fans will join such favourite characters as Anakin Skywalker, Obi-Wan Kenobi and Padmé Amidala.

COLLEGE ROAD TRIP (U)

If it weren't drizzled in so much emotional syrup that you can almost feel your molars rotting, Roger Kumble's comedy might be a little creepy. The central character is a police chief whose idea of fatherly love is to publicly smother his teenage daughter with hugs and kisses to ward off potential boyfriends. If that's not emotional cruelty, then making your loved ones see this film will be.

A devil in Smart heels

BY ELLIE GENOWER

ANNE Hathaway might be as pretty as a picture, but she didn't flinch when it came to performing action scenes wearing a tight dress and a pair of killer heels in new spoof comedy Get Smart.

"I feel The Devil Wears Prada was my high heels training for this movie," she laughs.

"We were trying to find a look where you could walk down a runway or fight ninjas. That was the challenge."

It seems Hathaway took her comedy action role opposite Steve Carell very much in her leggy stride.

"Steve and I, at one point, when we were fighting a 7ft 4in man and doing quite well, just kind of looked at each other thinking, 'You, me, who'd have thought it?'," she says.

"It was a lot of fun. I grew up playing sports so it was an extension of that. It felt a kind of cross between training for ballet and training for lacrosse, but it was very nice."

Get Smart was originally a hit 1960s US TV series created by Mel Brooks and Buck Henry. The movie version follows hapless and bumbling agent Maxwell Smart (Steve Carell) as he is thrown into the role of a secret field agent.

He teams up with smooth and rather impatient operator Agent 99 (Hathaway), and they go on a hilarious mission to Russia to infiltrate KAOS, a terrorist group with a stash of nuclear weapons.

"Agent 99 is a workaholic who takes her job seriously – rightfully so," explains Hathaway.

"But she's a little judgemental in the beginning. She's not really in touch with her sense of humour, her softer side. She's all business. Max surprises and charms her and knocks her off balance a little bit, and she really likes that.

SMART MOVE: Anne Hathaway loved trading quips with Steve Carell

"I definitely relate to being shown up and learning more things about yourself, thinking you know something and then being totally surprised. I don't go to the gym as much as she does though."

Despite the glam appearance, Agent 99 is no Bond girl and that suits Hathaway just fine.

"I get to be funny in this movie," she says.

"My character is the lighter interpretation of a Bond girl. No disrespect to Bond girls, they're fantastic, Halle Berry kicked ass in her Bond movie."

"I got to engage in this film in the action arena, but I also got to trade quips with Steve Carell."

Working with Carell, who is the driving force behind the US version of The Office, was a major factor in Hathaway taking the role.

"To say I'm a fan of The Office is really putting it mildly," she says.

"When I went to audition for this movie, I didn't think in a million years I was going to get the part, I really just wanted to meet Steve."

Having made her name as a princess-in-waiting opposite Julie Andrews in teen movie The Princess Diaries when she was 19, she managed to move seamlessly into adult movie territory, starring as Jake Gyllenhaal's wife in Brokeback Mountain and alongside Meryl Streep in The Devil Wears Prada.

"I'm 25 and I've had tremendous luck in terms of movies that I've made for artistic reasons which have gone on to become commercial successes," she says.

You and whose Army?

FLOUR-fighting four-piece Tortilla Army are planning a 14-date European tour to celebrate the band's 10th year of rocking.

The Canterbury-based outfit, this month's guest band on our online music showcase The Ether on www.yourkenttv.co.uk, will hit the road with Swedish metallers Freak Kitchen.

When the sat-nav is finally set, the Tortilla boys will have the chance to unleash material from their new album, Finally, on our continental cousins, in what is their fourth release in 10 years.

Bassist Sy Morton said the recording and gigging cycle was something the band enjoyed.

■ BY SIMON ROBINSON

He said: "In our 10 years we have toured and released four successful albums.

"We mainly do this for the love of doing it. We have turned down a few record deals in the past but if the right one came along we would definitely entertain that option.

"Long term, our aim is to keep rocking until there is no more hair."

The Army look set to recruit more foot soldiers later this year, with Proper Records showing interest in distributing Finally across the UK.

The album was co-produced and mastered by Ty Tabor, singer/guitarist with Kings X, an established Texas-based outfit often cited as the main influence of the Tortilla Army.

As far as other influences go, Sy admits: "We have also been likened to the Foo Fighters and Incubus.

"To pigeonhole your own style is so hard. We prefer people to draw their own comparisons and let us know."

For the uninitiated, the Foo Fighters/Incubus comparisons are well placed, with Tortilla Army achieving a polished American twang in their work.

The balance between heavy guitars and harmony – a hurdle most UK rock 'n' rollers never quite clear – is near spot on.

And the emphasis on matching meaningful lyrics to each track also helps to set the Army apart from countless contemporaries. It is these ingredients that have seen the Tortilla following blossom, opening a host of doors for the quartet.

Sy said their fans' support was appreciated: "We are always touched by the sheer enthusiasm of our loyal following. It's always great to see old and new faces at all of the venues we play at."

Treasured island on our doorstep

TO PUT it mildly, life got a bit frantic after I became the first woman to sail single-handedly non-stop around the world 'the wrong way' – west against the prevailing winds and currents, writes top yachswoman Dee Caffari.

With little sign of a let-up ahead of my entry in the 2008 Vendee Globe, I decided hard work can take its toll even on sturdy seafarers.

A weekend away sounded the ideal cure, preferably something that didn't involve getting on a plane. That's how Jersey came into the frame.

I have happy childhood memories of the place, but was initially hesitant. I wasn't quite sure I wanted a 'bucket and spade' break.

However, Jersey is right on the UK's doorstep and I could even get there by sea. When I asked to take my bike, that wasn't a problem either on the fast ferry from Poole.

My partner and I booked into one of Jersey's most famous hotels, the Pomme d'Or, in the centre of St Helier overlooking Liberation Square. The relaxed, friendly and efficient staff made us very welcome and promised to help with all we needed over the weekend.

Still feeling slightly under the weather, we spent our first day gently cycling along the south coast on a brilliantly bright day which emphasised the fact that Jersey is indeed the sunniest spot in the British Isles.

First we headed to the west of St Helier, then over to the south-easterly corner and to La Rocque harbour. Here it was clear to see how

YOU'RE COASTING: Jersey's cliff-top paths and green lanes are perfect for a gentle tour in the saddle

Jersey, at 45 square miles in area, can almost double in size at low water. Endless rocks lay soaking up the sunshine, allowing children to explore the rock pools while parents kept a watchful eye out for the tide.

We were even able to find hidden coves, such as Robin Bay, a sandy inlet sheltered from the wind creating a suntrap, and at last I started to feel human again.

Considering our visit had originally been planned as a convenient weekend break close to home, the range of Jersey's attractions far surpassed my expectations.

We discovered manicured gardens nestling in beautiful rural landscapes, countless gourmet delights and enough activities to keep the most adventurous person busy. The long stretches of beach and endless cycle routes among the green lanes gave just a taste of the huge amount on offer in Jersey and allowed us the excuse to rejuvenate tired limbs in indulgent pampering spas.

At times, it felt like the best of the West Country coupled with the cosmopolitan atmosphere of France.

I was feeling invigorated and energised by the time we headed home. Jersey was stunning and makes an ideal weekend recovery break any time of the year.

Why jet to Eastern Europe or the Med when there is so much to enjoy right on your doorstep?

Government expected to step in to ease crisis

MEASURES to revive the dormant housing market by increasing the supply of mortgage lending are being planned by ministers according to national newspaper reports.

Chancellor Alistair Darling is poised to intervene to help banks and building societies grant new mortgages.

The likely move comes in the form of financial backing for the institutions after the decline last year of the mortgage-backed securities market, which had become a crucial source of lending.

According to the latest figures, home-buying levels are currently at their lowest for the last four years and market analysts say government assistance is one of the best ways the business can be made more settled.

The Chancellor is expected to order an extension of the Bank of England's emergency £50 billion special liquidity scheme. This was introduced earlier this year in an attempt to help to ease intense funding strains on banks triggered by the credit crunch.

London prices out of touch with rest of UK

PEOPLE are leaving London to live in other locations in the South East, including Kent, according to estate agents who are tracking the capital's market.

The moves are taking place because the price of properties in the city has not adjusted downwards at the same pace as those in other parts of the country.

Analysts say London was the quickest to react to the downturn in the market at first – but this has not continued.

Instead prices have remained at a higher level – prompting an exodus of people in search of a bargain.

West Kent is one of the most popular places to buy with average price of an upscale family home £150,000 less than in affluent London areas. Land registry figures also suggest that London is out of step with the rest of the country.

Commissioners expect

MUCH of The Law Commission report, 'Encouraging Responsible Renting,' has been welcomed by the Association of Residential Letting Agents.

However, the association believes that the commissioners are expecting more from local authorities than many will be able to deliver. They want the regulation of letting agents and industry-wide standards for landlords.

SMALL MERCIES: Despite many sellers cutting their asking price on their property there still appears to little upturn in the number of homes that are actually being sold

Mortgage drought is not helping housing market

PROPERTY bargains are increasing as sellers cut asking prices in an attempt to make wary buyers commit in a slow summer market.

Experts say this is the ideal time to buy as great offers and deals are coming across the market – particularly for first-time buyers

Sellers are asking £5,403 less for their homes than a month ago, with the typical price of a house down, on average, by 2.3 per cent at £229,816, according to a survey on Rightmove, the property search website.

Despite such reductions, properties appear to be more difficult to sell, with Rightmoveregistered agents reporting 78 unsold properties on their books, up from 77 last month.

■ BY NICK AMES

Miles Shipside, a director of Rightmove, said: "Buyers are currently benefiting from the best choice in years."

Rightmove blames the mortgage drought for the state of the market, adding that transactions are in danger of dropping to levels last seen in 1959.

Despite fears there could be a surge of properties put on the market as the slumping economy and soaring prices force more borrowers into difficulties with their mortgages and push asking prices even lower. Rightmove says that there is no sign yet of a rush of homes for sale.

New listings are 106,000, about 25 per cent lower than typically seen at this time of year.

Mr Shipside added: "Those who do not have to sell are holding off."

Market analysts say the moves to cut prices are one of the best possible ways to stimulate the market and may be one of the reasons behind a slight resurgence in recent weeks.

Kent continues to weather the worst of the downturn, with estate agents in Ashford, Maidstone, Ramsgate and Tunbridge Wells recording steady sales.

Seat seeks a big sales spark for September

BUOYED by the summer launch of the all-new Ibiza supermini costing from £8,995, Seat has launched numerous deals to capitalise on the September new registration change.

Most notable is the coupé-style Leon five-door family hatch with 1.9 TDI diesel power in new Emocion spec, being offered with a free upgrade to superior Styleance level, bringing dual-zone climate control, electric front and rear windows, cruise control and, at £14,350, saving £900 over the £15,250 cost of the Styleance.

There is also a Leon Emocion special edition for just £13,250, plus offers on Altea MPVs and £1,500 off the seven-seat Alhambra Styleance 2.0 TDI (£19,995) people carrier.

Fiat Panda Cross 4x4 has escaped off-road

JUST as bigger 4x4s fall from favour, along comes Fiat with a trendy new version of its Panda-based 'mini-4x4'.

The Panda Cross, from £11,995, is more than just a marketing exercise; the original Panda 4x4 showed it could hack it off-road thanks to more ground clearance than the standard five-door baby car, lighter weight and permanent four-wheel drive with differential lock.

The Panda Cross also gets the extra pulling power of Fiat's 70bhp 1.3-litre turbodiesel, averaging more than 50mpg with road tax costing £120/year.

3,000 miles for free with new Peugeot 308

SEPTEMBER buyers of Peugeot 308s can ease the pain from soaring pump prices with £308 worth of free fuel thrown in.

If it is the economical diesel 308 HDi 90, this could translate into more than 3,000 free miles – even 308 petrol versions would travel 2,500 miles.

The 308 is available in three- and five-door body styles, plus the versatile estate-cum-MPV-SW model, with a panoramic glass roof and has high safety credentials and engines to suit all.

HARD DECISION: The new Mazda MX-5 Roadster Coupe has a retractable hard-top roof which does not compromise on boot space and is well worth the extra £2,000 the Roadster Coupe carries just 37 kilos more than its soft-top sibling.

Even better, Mazda engineers ensured that the hard top retracts behind the car's seats without penalising boot space either, although you lose out on two lockers behind the seats.

And the MX-5 drives as well as ever, with great poise on a winding road and good motorway refinement, although the MX-5 was always that rarity – a sports car to make light of long journeys.

Prices start at just £15,750 for the soft-top, but this cut-price version sits on steel wheels; you must upgrade to alloys, which means forking out an extra £800 for an option pack also fitted as standard on the Roadster Coupe (£18,600) entry version tested here.

This has a 125bhp 1.8-litre engine rather than the flagship 159bhp 2.0-litre that is also offered with five- or six-speed gearbox.

While the junior engine's 0-62mph in 9.4 seconds is not exactly neck-snapping and does little to dispel 'hairdresser's sports car' jibes that have burdened the MX-5 throughout, it offers enough power to prove that no other car delivers so much fun to the pound.

USED CAR ROUND-UP: OUR PICK FROM A KEY SECTOR

USED SMALL SUPERMINI/MPVS

SO successful has been the MPV (multi-purpose vehicle) or 'people carrier' concept that its influence has carried over to other car sectors. None more so than superminis, where designs are tending to be taller and more flexible, with 'smart' seating arrangements, extra headroom and load-lugging ability. None of the trio here would win styling prizes, but such versatility comes as standard and they are probably the closest to being the market's 'jacks of all trades'. After several years on the market, affordable examples should be easy to find too.

carsforkent.co.uk

VAUXHALL MERIVA

NOT quite as influential as Vauxhall's bigger Zafira perhaps, but the Meriva has become a popular used buy with families seeking a manageable yet capacious family holdall. The car drives and handles well and offers a higher driving position than equivalent family hatches and estates, without being ridiculously lofty. Add Vauxhall's usual versatile 'Flex' system interior features, a reputation for reliability and a good range of engines including diesels and you can see why Meriva used prices can be high.

HONDA JAZZ

HONDA's Jazz has definitely hit the right note and won a host of awards. Beware early examples, which were too firmly sprung for some tastes, but later models are good to drive and better to ride in while retaining cheeky looks and versatile rear seating. The range lacks a diesel, but offers a continuously variable automatic gearbox (CVT) option with pre-selected positions that are reassuring to use, while bringing all the benefits of a CVT auto's better fuel consumption.

NISSAN NOTE

NISSAN threw the rule book away with the Note to create a partial replacement for its long-running yet unloved Almera family hatchback, while also acquiring a small MPV with a more compact stance. The result is a versatile, roomy and manageable small car with lots of clever features including a reversible boot floor that covers a spacious lower compartment. The Note's engines are also good news, with a Renault-supplied 1.5-litre turbodiesel the most desirable, for mixing power with economy.

KCA Young Persons' Services provide specialist substance misuse services for young people and their families and carers. We have recently been awarded a grant from the Big Lottery Fund to expand our work with children from substance misusing families in Swale, Dover and Thanet. The project will work closely with Children's Social Services, schools and other children's services.

We require a senior worker to set up and manage the project, line manage staff and to support the delivery of group work programmes. Aimed at 7 - 11 year old children who are affected by someone else's misuse of substances, the groups will promote emotional and psychological well-being through structured activity and play. You will also need to have had some experience of project management and managing the work of others.

For the support worker posts you will need experience of working with children and delivering group work interventions. Ideally you will also have a sound knowledge of substance misuse issues.

We are also looking for a part-time administrative assistant to support the project. For this post you will need proficiency in data input and experience in using Microsoft Office. You will need to be able to respond to people in a professional manner and have good communication skills.

2 x Alternative Curriculum Pupil Referral Unit Managers

One post will cover Maidstone area and the other the Tonbridge area
Starting salary £35,370, with progression through contribution related pay to £40,705 per annum
Based at either Kroner House, Ashford or Bishops Terrace, Maidstone

The Alternative Curriculum Pupil Referral Units are a dynamic and creative part of Kent's wider framework of PRUs. Serving the needs of Local Children's services Partnerships, they are working to create, monitor and evaluate excellent alternative provision for excluded and other 'hard to place' Key Stage 4 pupils across the county. The AC PRUs have been devolved to work locally for groups of LCSPs in order to better meet the needs of vulnerable children and young people in these communities in the context of 'Every Child Matters'.

As the high profile manager of the AC PRU, you will work with a team in the community and be responsible for the commissioning, co-ordination and monitoring of a range of alternative curriculum projects for excluded and other vulnerable young people at KS4. Together these projects make up the 'classrooms' and 'workshops' of the Alternative Curriculum PRU.

You will work closely with LCSP Managers and schools within the relevant partnerships and report to them. You will have experience of working successfully with seriously disaffected young people, have an excellent knowledge of schools issues, an awareness of SEN issues and procedures and be capable of working with diverse multi-agency teams.

You will be able to assess the quality of learning in alternative curriculum projects within your PRU and feel comfortable about leading relevant staff training. You will be keen to be part of a team that works at the cutting edge of changes in the education system.

The post requires experience, originality and vision.

When applying please mark clearly on your application form which area you wish to be considered for.

Team Leader

Starting salary £29,920, with progression through contribution related pay to £35,370 per annum
Fixed term until August 2009

Westwood Centre, Margate

This potentially challenging, yet highly rewarding role will encourage an organised, innovative and focussed approach to education, working effectively with the curriculum to provide core subjects, vocational experiences and the development of an inclusive approach to wider supportive services and the extended schools agenda.

We are developing an innovative project designed to meet the holistic educational needs of those who have been identified at risk of permanent exclusion in Key Stage Four within an off-school setting for fifty young people.

Your primary function will be to manage and support the Kent Safe Schools Alternative Curriculum Provision at the Westwood Centre. You will also work alongside staff, agencies, schools, communities, parents and young people to identify opportunities to establish robust working partnerships. Managing the provision of full-time education for the young people along with the shared responsibility for supporting other staff in a similar area, with a particular focus on the co-ordination of services, induction and training will also be part of your remit.

You'll be bright, full of ideas and enjoy using your initiative, joining our dedicated and highly effective staff team.

With a good understanding of educational issues, you will possess experience of working with young people, specifically in the secondary sector.

If you have experience of and a commitment to working with young people, and supporting and offering guidance to other colleagues, we would love to hear from you.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Search is on for the best family business

COUTTS & CO, the Queen's bank, has started its search for contenders for the Coutts Prize for Family Business 2008/09.

The awards, now in their fourth year, look for the overall best performing small, medium-sized and large family businesses within three regions; Northern England and The Midlands; London and Greater London; and Southern England and Wales. Regional winners will also get a one-day programme in association with Cranfield University, School of Management.

There are three turnover categories: small £1-5 million, medium £5-25 million and large £25 million-plus.

Nomination packs will be sent out between September 1 and October 31. To reserve one, email robert.jacob@coutts.com or phone 0207 649 4046.

Finance company to turn a new page

PAGE Personnel Finance has expanded its UK operation by setting up a second team dedicated to serving east Kent.

Under manager Richard Sinden, the Canterbury professional financial recruitment office will work with businesses in Canterbury and Ashford and the surrounding areas of Shepway, Thanet and Dover.

The group, which has almost 40 branches nationwide, already operates in Maidstone and Medway.

It has just changed the name of its branches from Accountancy Additions to Page Personnel Finance.

Make a claim if you crash on Continent

IF you are injured in a car accident on your European holiday, you can make a compensation claim in the UK, says a Kent personal injury specialist.

Neille Ryan, partner of one of the South East's leading law firms Furley Page, said: "This is a bonus for claimants concerned at the prospect of seeking compensation through foreign courts, employing foreign lawyers and faced with the uncertainty of different rules under a foreign legal system."

"Take advantage of this facility but seek expert advice as there are still complex issues surrounding a claim – and these can be affected by the law in the country in which the accident occurred."

EXPERT ADVICE: Ways to make sure that the credit crunch isn't too painful

All work and no play for company bosses

■ BY TONY PATEY

CASH-STRAPPED Brits are staying at home for their holidays rather than go abroad – but many small business owners in the South East are not finding the time to take even a single day off.

Of those that do go on holiday, many take work-related time and can't shut off from work completely, according to a new survey from Lloyds TSB Business Insurance.

The credit crunch coupled with everyday pressures of running their own businesses are hammering the very things that attracted people to setting up on their own – flexibility and choosing their own hours.

The survey found that a half of small business owners take less than 10 days holiday a year. More than a fifth of South East London's small business owners don't even have time to take a single day's holiday.

A quarter take just one to five days, and 10 per cent take only six to 10 days holiday a year with only one in five small business owners taking 20 or more days holiday a year.

Of those that do go on holiday, many do not manage to completely switch off from work, with two thirds taking a work related item on holiday with them.

A fifth take a laptop to check work emails, a tenth take part in conference calls and meetings while on holiday, and nearly a fifth go as far as to cut short their holiday in order to deal with a work related issue.

Small business owners with three or more employees were found to be more likely to say they can rarely or never switch off and forget about work when on holiday.

Anne Marie Koukourava, partnership director for Lloyds TSB Business Insurance, said: "It seems that many small business owners cannot find the time to get away from the pressures of work to take a break and even those that do can't manage to completely switch off."

"With technology as advanced as it is today, it becomes easier for small business owners to use items like laptops, as well as utilising video conference technology to allow them to link up with work while away."

"With so many aspects to worry about while on holiday, it's important that small business owners make sure their business is fully insured to cover against any risks while they are away – at least that would be one less thing to worry about."

Target too small to help close the gap

WESTGATE-on-Sea missed out on the chance to close the gap on the promotion places as they lost to Tonbridge by seven wickets.

With the top two in Feeder League East 1B playing each other, Westgate would have moved into second with a victory.

Instead they were bowled out for 136, a target Tonbridge reached in the 32nd over.

Ebbsfleet boss Liam Daish on his side's 4-0 demolition of Stevenage Borough

Northeast points way to survival in thrilling fashion

A SUPERB all-round display by Sam Northeast gave Sandwich a nail-biting five-wicket victory over Lordswood and lifted them off the foot of the table.

Northeast took 52-2 as Sandwich's relegation rivals Lordswood posted a daunting total of 297-5 from their 55 overs. Chris Thompson was Lordswood's top scorer with 79 until he was caught by Matthew van Poppel off Northeast's bowling.

Paul Richards (52), Matt Iles (60) and Jeremy Greaves (50) all hit half-centuries as Sandwich's bowlers toiled, though Robert Gotham posted respectable figures of 2-35. Sandwich lost openers Michael and Kevin Beaumont cheaply, but Northeast came to the crease and anchored the victory chase with a wonderful unbeaten knock of 146.

He was ably supported by Vishaul Singh, who was frustratingly close to a century when he was trapped lbw for 95.

With the game in the balance David Draper was run out for just eight and Gotham was bowled by Kevin Masters for 12.

However, Craig Snell came to the crease and stayed with Northeast to the finish, making 12 not out as Sandwich posted a thrilling win with only two balls to spare, finishing on 297-5 to drastically increase their survival hopes.

KENT LEAGUE DIVISION ONE

Broadstairs CC 1st XI v Bickley Park CC 1st XI

BROADSTAIRS remain at the foot of Division One after a 32-run defeat to league leaders Bickley Park.

A shock looked on the cards when Broadstairs dismissed Bickley for just 147. James Lincoln made 62, but Michael Ross took 4-40 and Bradley Ellison 3-31.

The home side looked a good bet as openers Craig Wretham and Terry Bond made a half-century stand for the first wicket, but Broadstairs promptly collapsed from 58-1 to 115 all out after just 35 overs.

The last seven batsmen made just 20 runs, leaving Broadstairs deep in relegation trouble.

Old Hartsdonians CC 1st XI v East Langdon CC 1st XI

CENTURIES from Dave Wheeler and Marc Smith helped Old Hartsdonians to a devastating 164-run win over East Langdon in Feeder League East 1E.

Ashby is embarrassed by abject Gate display

FOOTBALL

BY YOURTHANET REPORTER

Margate 0 Canvey Island 4

MANAGER Barry Ashby felt compelled to say sorry to supporters, after the Gate put in a lamentable second-half display in their Ryman Premier Division clash with Canvey Island at Hartsdown Park.

"To be honest, I'd like to apologise for it because by the end of the day I was quite embarrassed," Ashby told the club's website. The Gate had their chances in the first half, but fell behind on 21 minutes when Leon Gordon lashed the ball past Scott Chalmers-Stevens.

Wayne Wilson hit the bar shortly before the interval, but in the 59th-minute the momentum swung decisively behind the visitors, when Dan Young was ruled to have been the last man when he brought down a Canvey attacker on the edge of the box.

Young was sent off and Dave Lee duly clipped in the free-kick.

Kevin Dobinson made it 3-0 with a quarter of an hour to play and John Curran added Canvey's fourth five minutes from time.

"I think we probably deserved something out of the first half," Ashby said. "We had two or three chances, hit the post, the keeper made a great save from Wayne (Wilson). But they just didn't go in. We went out second half, let a second goal in and heads went down. It really was a very poor performance." Ashby feels there is more to come from his side, but admitted Canvey seemed to have more will to win: "It's just disappointing because they know they're better than that. At the end of the day, Canvey had more desire, more passion than we did. And if you don't show that in a football game then you're going to struggle."

Triple switch rescues late point for Rams

AN EQUALISER seven minutes from time by Lee Minshull earned Ramsgate a point away to Boreham Wood in the Ryman League Premier Division.

The visitors had the best chance in an entertaining first half, when goalkeeper Jack Delo's long clearance sailed into Boreham Wood territory and found Mo Takaloo, whose header went just past the post.

However, the Wood, managed by the former Arsenal player Ian Allinson, took the lead just two minutes after the restart.

Ramsgate, trying to nullify the threat from the former Chelmsford playmaker Mario Noto, left Luke Donnelly unmarked at a corner and when Lee Allinson's corner drifted out to him he picked his spot to make it 1-0.

The home side created a host of chances, but failed to cash in and a triple substitution by Jim Ward on the hour shifted the momentum.

Ashley Burton, Stuart Vahid and Dan Tanner were replaced by Simon Pettit, Ben Brown and Dan Dolton and Ramsgate got back in the game. Pettit and Jake Eastwood both went close and in the 83rd-minute Ramsgate preserved an unbeaten record against the Wood that dates back to their promotion from the Kent League three years ago.

Andy Hadden's looping header wasn't dealt with by the home defenders and Minshull scored at the far post, earning the Rams their third draw in three games.

£1.3m track opens with Roadrunners' fun run

ATHLETICS

THANET athletes are at last able to enjoy the kind of facilities their rivals take for granted, after the opening of a £1.3million track in Ramsgate on Sunday.

Thanet Roadrunners staged a fun run to mark the opening of the track, the first of its kind in Thanet.

Anyone inspired by Great Britain's exploits in Beijing can now try athletics at a state-of-the-art facility on their doorstep.

Based at the Marlowe Academy, the centre includes an eight-lane track, a long jump pit and facilities for high jumpers, shotputters, javelin and discus throwers and pole-vaulters.

Academy principal Ian Johnson said: "We are very proud to have such superb facilities for the use of not just academy students but also the entire community, especially as we are a community-centred school."

"We are particularly grateful to Thanet District Council, Kent County Council and Sport England for having the vision to help fund this magnificent venue for athletics."

Jo Gideon, cabinet member for

ON TRACK: The academy facilities put Thanet athletes on a level playing field neighbourhoods, health and communities, said: "We were keen to invest in the track, along with our partners in this project, as we want to increase participation in sport."

"The running track is an excellent way to do that as it will be available to the community."

The scheme has also been funded by the Roger De Haan Charitable Trust, the East Kent Partnership and the National Lottery.

NERVOUS: Lisa Dobriskey beat her personal best but left herself too much to do to clinch a medal in the 1500m

Occasion gets the better of our Lisa

OLYMPICS/ATHLETICS

LISA Dobriskey returned to the UK with the rest of the British Olympic team on Monday after just missing out on a medal in Saturday's 1500m final.

The 24-year-old broke her personal best for the second successive race but the wrong tactics cost her the chance of claiming a place on the podium.

The Ashford-born athlete fuelled hopes she could follow in 2004 champion Kelly Holmes' footsteps by comfortably knocking two seconds off her personal best in the semi-final on Thursday.

But the Commonwealth champion appeared to freeze on the big stage in her first Olympic final.

With one lap to go Dobriskey was boxed in by other athletes near the back of the field, which preventing her from responding to an attack at the front.

She lost 20 metres on the athletes at the front until she finally found space, but despite a fast finish there was too much ground to make up and was piped for bronze by less than half a second.

Dobriskey said: "What can I say? I think I just left it too late, I'm gutted really. If you had said this time last year that I would come fourth in the Olympics I wouldn't have believed it, so I've got to take some heart from that."

"It all kicked off with 500 metres to go. I felt relaxed and comfortable and I didn't want to go too early and blow up but they were just a little bit too far in front of me."

"I did realise I had a shot for a medal. That would have been a really good bonus but it's one of those things."

The race was won by Kenya's Nancy Langat from Ukraine pair Iryna Lischynska and Nataliya Tobias.

Dobriskey will have little time to reflect on her experiences in Beijing before she returns to action, at the British Grand Prix in Gateshead on Sunday.
